

I oppose killing bears to manage caribou herds. Humans are the greatest threat to wildlife, yet we justify slaughter under the guise of balance. If there's truly no alternative, then Alaska must take serious steps to reduce human impact elsewhere. We are part of nature—not above it. This disconnect is making us spiritually sick. Pro-lifers who kill animals but oppose abortion must reckon with this hypocrisy. We've made a mess of things. It's time to heal and support all life
