

Killing bears even with their cubs can not be a solution to save caribou herds. Similar trials happened in other countries against other carnivores, especially wolves. Instead, gaming (and/or hunting) should be limited and to provide herbivores spread let the nature do its business amongst those species.